

PHP DEVELOPER

That's Us Technologies is seeking a dedicated PHP Developer to join our team in Tampa. As a Developer on our team, you will work closely with our CIO, CTO, UI designers and project managers to bring exciting concepts and designs into reality.

We are a small company with a relaxed atmosphere and a fast-paced development strategy. Our development teams enjoy a casual and exciting culture while practicing development. This position requires an in-house team member (no telecommuting), though occasional remote days are fine.

Description:

The ideal candidate for this position will be passionate about Software Development, specifically in a PHP MVC framework (we use Laravel). They should enjoy learning and discussing technology concepts and ideas in order to better both themselves and their new team. They should always understand, and be pretend to defend, why they wrote code the way they did, not just what they wrote and challenge other developers the same way during code reviews. The candidate should love test-driven development and understand what YAGNI (You Ain't Gonna Need It) means.

Requirements (must have):

- 3-5 years professional PHP development experience in an MVC framework
- Strong understanding of Object Oriented Programming
- Experience and strong preference for Test-Driven Development
- Experience with RESTful APIs
- MySQL (or other SQL-based) experience
- Desire to work in a team-based environment
- Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science (or related/equivalent)

Extra (nice to have):

- Experience with Laravel
- Experience with Lumen
- Experience with Vue.js
- Familiarity with PHP 7
